

show daily

the mart – monday, june 11, 2018

the a-list

- when: 2:00–5:00PM
who: Atlas Carpet Mills
what: Wine and cheese party
where: space 1082
- when: 2:00–6:00PM
who: Nucraft
what: Cocktail party
where: space 1166
- when: 3:00–5:00PM
who: J+J Flooring Group
what: Cocktail party
where: space 10-118
- when: 3:00–5:30PM
who: Wolf-Gordon
what: Cocktails
where: space 10-161; rsvp@wolfgordon.com
- when: 3:00–6:00PM
who: EF Contract
what: Cocktails + canapes
where: space 1167; rita.faulkner@efcontractflooring.com
- when: 3:30–5:30PM
who: Okamura
what: Happy hour + sushi bar
where: space 11-124
- when: 3:30–6:30PM
who: Arcadia and Encore Seating
what: Cocktail party
where: spaces 340 + 336
- when: 4:00–6:00PM
who: Davis Furniture
what: Cocktail party
where: space 3-115
- when: 4:30–6:30PM
who: Global Furniture Group
what: Cocktail party
where: space 1035
- when: 4:30–8:00PM
who: Andreu World
what: Fiesta
where: space 10-132

hats off to buzzi!

The latest novelty

from the clever cats at BuzziSpace: a jaunty chapeau-shape pendant fixture that boosts acoustics (yes, even in the cacophonous Mart!). Designed by Alain Gilles, BuzziHat pairs a curvy upholstered-foam body with a flared powder-coated-aluminum brim; mix and match colors for sartorial flair. A whimsical touch to top off any noisy office, the sound-dampening light—like all the brand's intros henceforth—is UL-listed. space 10-111

on the flipside

Gus Design Group's new three-seater, Adelaide, is a fusion of extremes: high-end yet low-maintenance. The polyester cushions are flip-able; the walnut legs, detachable (if you're wondering why, ask your doorframe). And a pair of bonus side cushions that add extra padding nails the vintage club style. Available in Velvet Rust, Velvet Mercury, Leaside Driftwood, or Varsity Charcoal upholstery, Adelaide is equally apropos for casual confabs—or corporate catnaps. Test drive it at Teknion. space 1048

you spin me right 'round, baby

Launched in 1993 by Peter Kruse, Danish rug source Fraster makes its NeoCon debut under the aegis of Unika Vaev. It's a fitting alliance, with Fraster emphasizing its range of natural wool felt—a perfect complement for Unika Vaev's emphasis on decorative acoustic products. The 58 graphic patterns include Jellyfish, a colorful school of concentric circles. Fancy a custom hue? Make a DIY mix from the 40-strong palette. space 365

You'll no doubt take a shine to Dutch designer Mae Engelgeer's Matter collection for Wolf-Gordon, a luxe but durable line of wool blends layered with shimmering metallic threads. space 10-161

SELECT

For the inside scoop on the hottest new products at NeoCon, head straight to the Interior Design SELECT partner showrooms. Do not pass go! (Well, other than to turn to page 98 for a list of manufacturers.)

sixth sense

There's no denying this sofa's hex appeal. The new design by David Edward is fully upholstered, giving it the solid, polygonal look that spawned its name: Geo. Customizable in almost any fabric, the foam interior is neatly sealed with six seams. An angled back gently nudges the sofa away from the wall, a quirk likely to provoke an array of creative arrangements. Also noteworthy: The brand's Mart address is its first new showroom in 50 years. space 331

MARK MÜLLER

three h

SPACE 345

Industrial designer Mark Müller's new furniture series, Woodstock—the name a tongue-in-cheek nod to that freethinking time—supports the pivot toward personal spaces within open-plan offices. Leveraging a dowel-type construction technique that eliminates visible connectors, he conceived residential-leaning work surfaces, credenzas, seating, and accessories that workers can personalize. Components like oak table legs and felt modesty panels offer “an organic connection with the natural world,” Müller says, while aluminum and acrylic details add sheen. Custom grommet modules provide direct USB access and cavities for electronics. Choose from various stain, finish, and cushion options.

“It’s simple, clean, and smart, but not detached from nature”